

'Valentine Swing' Begins Semester

• 'ST. VALENTINE'S SWING,' February 5, will feature the music of Bob Tolson's combo and honor all new students. The hearts and flowers theme, combined with welcoming newcomers to the University, is planned by the Dance Production Groups and Student Council as a special highlight of the social dance program.

The Pharmacy School is sponsoring the Friday night event from 9 to 12. Ted Kranzler, Pharmacy School Representative on the Student Council, heads the planning of entertainment while Phi Sigma Sigma, Sigma Kappa, and Big Sisters will provide approximately forty hostesses.

Big Sisters will hold a Coffee Hour for new women students on Wednesday night, February 5, in the Big Sis Lounge, Woodhull House. This event will include a skit by Alpha Lambda Delta humorously depicting the trials of University newcomers, and short talks by Dean Turner of the Junior College and Pat Reed, Freshman Director of the Student Council.

All Big Sisters who were not at the Big Sis meeting January 13 are urged to contact Miss Kirkbride's office and leave their names as Big Sisters for the new semester.

Selection of officers for next year's Big Sis Board will be made March 14 by Mortarboard. All girls wishing to be Big Sisters next year, committee members, or Board members must file petitions and submit fifty cents dues to Miss Kirkbride's office during a limited period beginning February 24. Active participation on committees is prerequisite to applying for an office on the Board. Mortarboard will conduct interviews with prospective officers on Sunday afternoon, March 14, to determine the new Board for '54-'55.

Alumni Honor Seniors With Annual Dance

• THE ANNUAL SENIOR dance will be given by the General Alumni Association of the University on Friday, February 12, at 10 p.m.

The dance will be held in the Terrace Banquet Room of the Shoreham Hotel, and will honor graduates of the academic year 1953-1954.

All seniors, who will graduate in February or June, plus those who graduated in November '53, will receive tickets through the mail.

Law students to graduate in June should get their tickets in the Secretary's Office of the Law School.

If any seniors do not receive tickets, they can pick them up at the Alumni Office at 2018 Eye St., N. W.

No Hatchet

• DUE TO EXAMS, there will be no HATCHET meeting this evening. For the same reason there will be no paper or meeting the following Tuesday. The next regular issue of the HATCHET will be Tuesday, February 9.

On Sunday, February 7, we will need all the help we can obtain. Anyone interested in working on the HATCHET during the new semester may come to the HATCHET office on that Sunday.

University Plans New X-Ray Plant

• CONSTRUCTION OF AN addition to the University Hospital, to allow the Hospital to double in size and patient capacity its X-ray treatment facilities will begin as soon as weather permits, Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, University President, announced today.

The new building will cost about $200,000 and will provide facilities for increasing from 500 to 1000 the number of patients each month who can be treated with deep therapy X-ray for cancer and other malignant diseases. The number of X-ray pictures taken at the Hospital will remain the same, totaling about 1800 each month.

The new building will be a one-story, Indiana limestone structure adjoining the present Radiology department on the 23rd street side of the Hospital. It will contain two lead-lined rooms for deep therapy X-ray treatments and a basement for X-ray film storage. It will also allow for expansion of other facilities in the Radiology Department such as physicians' offices, diagnostic and treatment rooms and will permit the addition of a patients' waiting room.

The need for additional X-ray facilities has increased steadily since the opening of the Hospital six years ago, according to Dr. William W. Stanbro, Director of the Radiology Department.

The new building, which will be completed during the summer of 1954, will help to ease this situation, he added. It will also provide facilities to care for the anticipated increase in cancer treatments arising from the expanded new quarters across from the Hospital on Washington Circle.

Fund Offers Fellowships To Teachers

• APPROXIMATELY 250 faculty fellowships for the academic year 1954-1955 are being offered by the Fund for the Advancement of Education.

Each Faculty Fellowship provides a grant approximately equivalent to the salary of the recipient at the time of application, plus certain expenses which in the opinion of the committee are essential to his plan of study. No money will be provided for transportation outside the United States.

Men and women between the ages of 30-45 who have been teaching steadily for several years will be considered as candidates. Each candidate must be nominated by his institution. Application blanks may be obtained in President Cloyd H. Marvin's office.

Deadline for fellowship applications is January 31, 1954. Awards will be announced on or about April 8, 1954.

Additional information may be obtained from the Committee on Faculty Fellowships, The Fund for the Advancement, 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N. Y.

Report Writing Gets Light Logical Touch

• DR. CALVIN D. Linton's new book, "How to Write Reports," which is now available to the general reading public and is being distributed as the January selection of the Executive Book Club, is a new approach to the subject.

It is a general guide to writing reports on all subjects and not slanted toward one specific field nor filled with sample reports. Dr. Linton's belief that the stress should be on the basic skills necessary for competent report writing has influenced the scope of his material. Effective writing, whether in reports or in exposition, depends upon clarity, coherence, and brevity.

Book Includes Surveys

The first section of the book is a survey of the essential nature and function of written communication in government and industry in the accelerated society of today. It defines and discusses the essential qualities of expository writing and the particular requirements of the report as a tool in modern communication.

The second section covers method and discusses logic and clear thinking, writing effective sentences and paragraphs, performing efficient and accurate research and developing appropriate and effective style.

The final section deals with mechanics, and contains a grammar and punctuation refresher, a discussion of outlining, notetaking, editing, proofreading and other related mechanical details. The principles of visual representation through graphs and charts are also included in this section.

The new approach taken by Dr. Linton in writing his book may well be a determining factor in eliminating the jargon and obscurity found so frequently in government and business writing today. Instead of emphasizing the alleged differences in sentence and paragraph structure between reports on different subjects, it stresses the basic similarities found in effective writing.

By writing this in a closely-knit, succinct style, Dr. Linton has ably demonstrated the object of his book. It is, to quote Mr. Murray D. Bryce, Director of Training of the International Bank, "a model of good writing, and serves as evidence that a serious work need not lack a light touch."

University Offers Education Classes

• THE SCHOOL OF education will offer courses in the spring semester in adult and child education which will be directed toward lay persons as well as teachers.

Included in this list are: evaluation in education; employee training; school law; educational research methods and procedures and learning and teaching. Of special interest to non-teachers will be courses in children's literature; elementary school music; reading problems and society and the school.

The public administration department of school of government will undertake a workshop of conference methods, plus methods of investigation and oral and written presentations. Other courses scheduled include: monetary policy; central banking; problems of government economic policy; business policy; problems in personnel administration; government corporations and labor relations. In addition to these the school of government will offer public fiscal administration and personnel administration.

New courses in the Law School being offered next semester include group study in administrative law and internal security laws. Non-members of the bar may participate in the Institutes which consist of one-day panel and discussion groups. The subjects will be: government contracts; insurance; and foreign trade.

The graduate law school is open to students with a B-average and qualifying lawyers with sufficient experience, and offers credits leading to the master of laws degree. Research in public law will be done under the supervision of the faculty which will also offer research in taxation and international law.

No silence will be observed during the rushing period. The Panhel Council is to vote on the length of time girls will visit the groups before signing pledging slips. Probably three weeks will be the length of the period.

Planned parties given by sororities on campus are not compulsory, but the Council believes that many groups will arrange for parties after the Open House.

Letters to the Editors:

To the editors of the Hatchet:
Your editorial entitled, "Incomplete Picture" in the January 12th issue of the Hatchet has aroused much indignation at the university, if our organization is any criterion.

I cannot help but agree with you that the excellent basketball team George Washington has this year, has done much to overcome student apathy. However, your criticism that the cheerleaders "lack everything but numbers" is totally unfounded.

During my three years at George Washington, the cheerleaders have always led what spirit it there was and tried to arouse more. Certainly this year is no exception.

The university has, in this year's cheerleaders, one of the most spirited groups of all time. They have tried to conquer student apathy by sponsoring a new cheer contest and trying to schedule pep rallies, both to little or no avail however.

The editors might well pause before they again so flagrantly insult the true spirit of G.W.: the cheerleaders.

Dear Editors:

We are afraid that your editorial of January 12, 1954 can not go unanswered. Sitting in the stands with your vocal chords paralyzed you see only one side of this situation.

Last spring at tryouts every girl was spilling over with pep. This feeling of school spirit was still with us when the football season opened. Soon we realized that our spirit was not shared by the spectators. (Tho they were full of one kind of spirit) But we went on, spirit undaunted.

Boosters did quite a bit to aid us by handing out things at games and sponsoring contests at the weekly Pep Rallies. We optimistically called these gatherings of 30 silent people, PEP RALLIES.

We spent the summer months working on new cheers which were not responded to wholeheartedly by the student body.

Did you know that the CHEER-LEADERS meet and practice two or three times a week at 8:00 A.M. The purpose being to improve, discard or originate new cheers in order to receive a reaction from the fans. Apparently we have received a reaction even tho it's not the desired one.

Have you ever thought of the discouragement of getting in front of a stoney faced crowd and yelling your heart out to no avail. We are supposed to lead cheers not perform alone. We perhaps are not doing our best now, but we have tried. We can do nothing without the support of the students. We can not instill school spirit in wooden Indians. We wish to do more than our part if we can only be met half way.

THE CHEERLEADERS

• HAVING READ your editorial regarding what you consider to be the inadequacy of our cheerleaders, we believe we may have come up with a solution.

It takes coordinated effort to put out a newspaper, doesn't it? We respectfully suggest that at the next home game the HATCHET'S board of editors take to the court in place of our cheerleaders. Surely we would see the same brand of abandoned enthusiasm that makes your paper so eagerly awaited each week by vast throngs standing one and two deep in the Union.

You know you have a perfect right and responsibility to objectively and constructively criticize those conditions on the campus that cry out for comment. But if you can do no better than malign these gals who do such a sincere and consistent job in the face of huge obvious obstacles—you had best turn from that portrait of Pulitzer, open another can for everybody, and stick to posting the bulletins on your board. A newspaper is mainly for news anyway.

And in saying cheerleaders... "lack everything but number"... can you be blind to how the HATCHET might improve?... a singular, clearly defined leadership.

Sincerely,
Harold T. Gullan
and Robert A. Alden

• GEORGE WASHINGTON, winner of eleven of twelve games, plays the University of Virginia at Charlottesville Thursday night and then remains idle until Saturday, Feb. 6. The Colonials will open the second semester of school and second half of the season by embarking on a three game tour of the Carolinas, playing Duke, Saturday, Feb. 6; South Carolina, Monday, Feb. 8; and Furman, Tuesday, Feb. 9.

The Colonials will try to regain some of their lost national prestige (after losing their first game to Maryland) and improve their wallowing offenses (that slipped miserably during their recent road trip into Virginia and Maryland).

GW, ranked seventh last week in the Associated Poll of newspapers and radio stations, is expected to fall a notch or two in the poll to be released this afternoon. The Colonials, who still possess one of the most outstanding won-loss records and the outstanding accuracy record in the nation, could conceivably remain in the top ten near their present position.

But the once proud devastating offensive machine of the G-Streeters, itself devastated in recent games, has slumped from a near 90-point average per game to 82.5 per game.

And the field goal accuracy mark of the Colonials, far ahead of any other college basketball team in America all season, slipped from 46.7% to 45% after an unimpressive performance against Maryland.

The outstanding achievement the Colonials could point to this week after other honors seemed to be slipping away, was their brilliant free throw accuracy mark. GW, defending national champion in foul shooting accuracy, started the season with two poor games and owned a relatively poor mark of 70% after a half-dozen games, but after Maryland the Colonials were again riding high with a 75% record.

JOE HOLUP, Number 16 for GW, owns ball soon to be a basket for the Colonials against Georgetown. That's Jim Yall of the Hoyas trying to stop Holup. Joe, sophomore center, is one of the nation's leaders in rebounds, points scored and field goal accuracy. Courtesy, the Washington Post.
